

THE GUARDIAN NEWSPAPER

Glen Eden's free monthly local paper

HOME CONTENTS PAGE BACK ISSUES CONTACT ADVERTISE COVER STORIES

Type to search, then press enter

Human Rights in Education

The story of the three small children expelled from the Titirangi Steiner school in June 2009, has had a further recent development in that the Director of the Human Rights Tribunal has again offered the parents of the children and the school mediation. Although the parents of the children accepted the offer from the Human Rights Commission the first time, the school refused. That is why the matter has now been referred to the Director of the Tribunal. The good news is that the school has now agreed to mediate. Due process can take a long time. You can read more about it including updates, at: www.tirangisteinermessenger.com. Original Aucklander article <http://www.theaucklander.co.nz/news/harsh-lesson/1022171/>

Sorry, comments are closed for this post.

Azalee Seaweek 2 - 10 March 2013
For more information: www.seaweek.org.nz

Supported by:

- Department of Conservation
Te Papa Atarehā
- NEW ZEALAND MARINE STUDIES CENTRE
University of Otago
- ASB Community Trust
Te Kaitiaki Pūtea o Tamaiti o Tai Tokerau

TOIORA TE MOANA TOIORA TE TANGATA ...
HEALTHY SEAS HEALTHY PEOPLE